Ford Explorer is as much a winner at home as it is on the road.

Those who really know the game can identify a pro the moment they see them drive to the hoop.

It's that way with experts in the automobile business, too.

Perhaps that's why the Ford Explorer has been named "4-wheeler of the year" two years in a row by Four Wheeler magazine's editors.

And since it's been the most popular new vehicle introduction in Ford's history, it's obviously a clear winner with drivers, too. The rugged good looks and outstanding performance make it as comfortable blazing a trail in town as it is in the country.

The Explorer is at your local Northwest Ford Dealers now. Take it for a drive.

Winix AMERICA™

OPPONENT 0
Winix combines UNIX, DOS, and Microsoft Windows to create the THREE POINT play of networking
By "BUCK"ing the normally complicated UNIX commands
Or, be at the "MERCY" of a DOS based networking system.
That's right! Now you can "GLIDE" right through the maze of UNIX and DOS applications.
With Winix you don't have to "DUCK" those tough operations any longer.
Total interoperability is what makes WINIX a networking ALL STAR.

PAUL ALLEN

Paul Allen is in his fourth year as Governor of the Portland Trail Blazers.

"These are truly exciting times for everyone associated with the Blazers — the players, staff and fans," Allen says. "Last year's team continued its drive toward a world championship by winning the Pacific Division and posting the league's best record. Our players and coaches did a terrific job of handling the pressures that came with the high expectations following their 1990 NBA Finals appearance. They gave us all many fantastic moments that will long be remembered. We want to build on that success and bring a championship back to Portland.

"Our front office, under the day-to-day direction of Harry Glickman, Geoff Petrie and Marshall Glickman, continues to maintain the standard within the NBA for service and innovation," Allen adds. "The major undertaking of bringing a first class, multi-use entertainment facility to Portland is at the forefront of our efforts in the coming years. Together with the Portland community we're committed to creating a complex that will bring numerous benefits to everyone in the area."

Allen, together with fellow Seattle native Bill Gates, founded the computer software firm Microsoft in 1975. The 38-year-old Allen currently serves on the Microsoft Board of Directors and is the company's second-largest shareholder. Allen also serves on the Board of Egghead Discount Software.

In 1985 Allen founded Asymetrix Corporation in Bellevue, Washington, and serves as its Chairman and President. Asymetrix launched its first product, ToolBook, in May, 1990. ToolBook is a software construction set for the Microsoft Windows environment which allows users to rapidly prototype and develop graphical business applications.

A resident of Mercer Island, Washington, Allen attended Lakeside School in Seattle and Washington State University. He has a basketball court in his backyard, which he uses to shoot around with friends.

BERT KOLDE

Bert Kolde serves as Vice-Chairman of the Trail Blazers.

"The entire Blazer organization is coming off a record-setting season," Kolde says. "On the court, the players and basketball staff teamed up for a franchise-record 63 victories, giving them a league-leading 122-42 mark for the last two years. Many of the experts rated Portland as the NBA's best team, and with a deep roster of players in the prime of their careers, the Blazers should be contending for a championship for many years.

"The front office has maintained equally high standards," Kolde adds. "We are proud of our planning and development efforts to bring a new arena to the region. I hope the fans are as excited as I am about this state-of-the-art entertainment center.

"For the 14th consecutive season, the Blazers led the entire NBA in television ratings. That's a real tribute to our fans. We hope to be able to join them in celebrating an NBA championship in the coming year."

Kolde is also Executive Vice-President of Asymetrix Corporation. Prior to joining Asymetrix, Bert was a Vice-President of the Finance Group at Seafirst Bank in Seattle. Bert earned his Bachelor's degree in Finance from Washington State University, after which he served as a U.S. Army officer in the Panama Canal Zone. He completed his Masters in Business Administration at the University of Washington in 1980.

Bert and his wife Alison have two young sons, Bronson and Sterling.

There's another super team in town!

We're the BP Team, and already we've won a crowd of fans in the Portland area! One big reason is our BP Super Unleaded Gasoline that's tops in power and performance!

It's super because it:

- Cleans clogged fuel injectors and keeps them clean.
- Is the first gasoline to pass the Official BMW test for lifetime intake valve cleanliness.
- Prevents carbon buildup on intake valves.
- Gives high level of corrosion protection.
- Provides superior acceleration.
- Offers super high octane.

So fill up with BP Super Unleaded and go with a winner!

On The Move

HARRY GLICKMAN

The Portland Trail Blazers, one of the most successful franchises in all of sports and a model for other organizations in professional basketball, point to the accomplishments of one man as the foundation for their rise to the top.

The man is Harry Glickman.

It was more than just a fitting tribute to the highly successful Blazer president when he was enshrined in the Oregon Sports Hall of Fame in August of 1986.

The success of the Trail Blazers has been unequalled since Glickman first began wooing a franchise to Portland as early as the mid-1960's.

In January of 1970, Glickman went to the league meetings of the NBA in Philadelphia with the backing for a franchise. Expansion into San Diego, Phoenix and Seattle, coupled with the transplanting of the Minneapolis Lakers to Los Angeles and Philadelphia Warriors to San Francisco, opened up the West Coast to the predominantly eastern league and enhanced Portland's bid for a team.

At the Philadelphia meetings, Glickman found the ground rules had changed and the ante had been increased for an expansion team. He returned home empty-handed but that initial setback was shortlived. A month later with new financial backing, the Portland Trail Blazers were born at a meeting in Los Angeles.

Just seven seasons into existence, the Blazers brought a world championship to the city of Portland. Glickman's initial commitment to putting Portland at the forefront of the NBA has never wavered, avoiding the complacency that sometimes accompanies success.

Following the 1990-91 season the Blazers had sold out an astounding 631 consecutive home games at Memorial Coliseum. That's easily the longest string by any team in any sport. With the demand for tickets, and Blazermania, running higher than ever, there's no end presently in sight.

Glickman was born in Portland and graduated from the University of Oregon School of Journalism in 1948 following a stint in Germany during World War II. He served as director of the university's athletic news bureau as a sophomore and covered the Ducks for The Oregonian during the era of Norm Van Brocklin, one of Glickman's close friends.

Plans to become a sportswriter were tabled as Glickman began to open doors for himself in the area of promotions and publicity. After founding Oregon Sports Attractions in 1952, he devoted his efforts to promoting boxing, professional football and the Harlem Globetrotters, as well as non-sports related activities such as the Northwest tour of Judy Garland and Liberace.

A pre-season football game between the Los Angeles Rams and the Chicago Cardinals in 1952 was staged by Glickman at Multnomah Civic Stadium. With more than 29,100 fans in attendance, it was his first sellout. He continued to bring the NFL to Portland until 1969.

Glickman served as manager of Multnomah Civic Stadium in 1958 and 1959.

In the fall of 1960, Glickman brought professional hockey back to Portland after a 10-year absence, organizing the Portland Buckaroos of the old Western Hockey League. During the '60s, the Buckaroos finished first seven times and second twice in one nine-year stretch. They smashed every attendance record in professional hockey outside the then tightly-knit six-team National Hockey League. Glickman was named Hockey Executive of the Year by Hockey News in 1965.

Glickman's commitment to improving the quality of life for the people of Oregon has not been limited just to providing the benefits derived from the realm of sports. He is active in a wide variety of civic affairs.

He is a member of the board of directors of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Oregon and U.S. Committee Sports for Israel. He's a Director Emeritus of the Oregon Sports Hall of Fame. In addition to his place in the Oregon Sports Hall of Fame, Glickman has been named to the Webfoot Society of the University of Oregon. He and Blazer center Kevin Duckworth recently became the first inductees of the Portland chapter of the University's Hall of Fame. Each year the State of Oregon's top professional athlete is honored with the Harry Glickman Professional Athlete of the Year award at The Oregonian Banquet of Champions.

Glickman and his wife, Joanne, have two daughters, Lynn and Jennifer; a son, Marshall; and grandson, Joel. Marshall is senior vice-president of marketing with the Trail Blazers.

SOMETIMES THE BEST THERE IS COMES FROM OUT IN OREGON.

It's tough to beat a good team with home court support. That's why "Insurance from out in Oregon" makes so much sense for residents of the Pacific Northwest.

Standard offers outstanding life and disability insurance and retirement plans for individuals and groups. Outstanding products have led to sales success. Sound investment of the premiums and home office efficiency have provided financial strength. Standard's surplus-to-assets ratio exceeds 8% and continues to lead the industry average.

Leading from strength, Team Standard consistently pays policyowners higher dividends than projected at the time of purchase. It pays to play ball with Standard. Forget the hoopla from big eastern insurance companies. Capitalize on your home court advantage!

MARSHALL GLICKMAN

As Senior Vice-President of Marketing for the Portland Trail Blazers, Marshall Glickman is responsible for overseeing Blazer Broadcasting, sponsor sales and services, creative services, communications and special events. He is spearheading efforts to bring a new basketball arena to the city of Portland that would serve as home to the Blazers and other major events.

Glickman started with the Blazer front office in 1983 as manager of the team's cable operations. In 1986 he left the club to accept a position as Broadcast Coordinator for the National Basketball Association. After one year, Glickman was promoted to Director of Media Sales for the NBA. He returned to the Blazer organization in August 1988 as Director of Business Development. Glickman was promoted Vice-President of Marketing in August, 1988. He was promoted to his current position in June of 1990.

An Oregon native, Glickman graduated from Lewis & Clark College in 1981. He is a member of the City Club of Portland, the Portland Executives Association and the American Advertising Museum Board of Directors. Married, Glickman lists tennis, golf and music as his hobbies.

GEOFF PETRIE

Geoff Petrie, the first-ever Portland Trail Blazer, enters his second year as Senior Vice-President of Operations for the team. He oversees the areas of basketball operations, scheduling, team travel, accounting, management information systems and tickets.

Petrie served as analyst on the Blazers' radio broadcasts for five years before moving into the front office on a full-time basis July 1, 1990. He has played a role in the basketball activities of the team the last seven years and presently handles contractual negotiations.

A graduate of Princeton, Petrie shared co-Rookie of the Year honors with Dave Cowens of the Boston Celtics after being Portland's first draft selection prior to its inaugural season of 1970-71. The former 6-foot-5 guard stands third on Portland's career scoring list (9,732), third in assists (2,057) and eighth in games played (446). He averaged 21.8 points in six NBA seasons. His uniform number, 45, was retired October 1, 1981.

A few words about pride.

To a world striving to communicate, we provide quality communication products and services. In an era of technological advances, we are a leader in innovation. Yet our pride is being part of the communities we serve – the cities and towns which look to GTE for answers to communications needs. We're proud of those communities and we're proud to be part of them.

The front runner in communications.
And proud of it.

MORRIS (BUCKY) BUCKWALTER

It's a never-ending process — trying to construct the perfect basketball team; one that will rise above the other 26 in the National Basketball Association and earn the distinction of being the best in the world. The architect charged with overseeing that process with the Portland Trail Blazers is Morris "Bucky" Buckwalter, vice-president of basketball operations.

Few ever earn the opportunity to enjoy life at the top in the NBA. While it's been many years of difficult work on the hotseat of player personnel, and a second world championship still flirts elusively with the Trail Blazers, Bucky Buckwalter is reaping the benefits of his efforts. He has reached the pinnacle of his profession.

Buckwalter was named the The Sporting News NBA Executive of the Year in a vote of league front office personnel following a 1990-91 season that saw the Blazers rise to the top of the NBA standings. Portland has won 122 games the past two seasons, more than any team in the league, but the ascension to the top began in the mid-1980's when Buckwalter drafted Clyde Drexler, Jerome Kersey and Terry Porter, the nucleus of what today is the deepest roster of talent in the NBA.

In addition to coming out ahead in the collegiate draft casino, Buckwalter has engineered trades that have added the likes of Kevin Duckworth, Buck Williams, Danny Ainge and Walter Davis to the fold. It's an ideal blend of veteran experience and emerging youth that includes a dozen players who each play a role in the team's success.

Buckwalter had served the Trail Blazers organization as an assistant coach and scout from 1979 through January of 1986 when he assumed the position of vice-president of basketball operations. He has earned a reputation for discovering talent from myriad sources, and his efforts have extended to every area of the globe. His calculated risks have been rewarded with numerous success stories.

Through the years Buckwalter has plucked several plums that have become valuable contributors to the success of the Trail Blazers. Foremost has been Terry Porter, the team's first round draft pick out of Wisconsin-Stevens Point; Jerome Kersey of Longwood College in Virginia and Steve Colter from New Mexico State, both second round selections in 1984; Johnny Davis, a second round pick from Dayton in 1976; Billy Ray Bates, a charismatic guard imported from the CBA during the 1979-80 season; and Cliff Robinson, a steal with the 36th pick of the 1989 draft out of Connecticut.

Buckwalter was introduced to professional basketball in 1972 when he joined the Seattle SuperSonics as an assistant coach. When Tom Nissalke was fired in January of 1973, Buckwalter took over as head coach for the remainder of the campaign. The following season, he was an assistant general manager to Bill Russell with the Sonics.

The 1974-75 season saw Buckwalter at the helm of the Utah Stars in the American Basketball Association. Perhaps the most notable accomplishment that year was to lure a youngster named Moses Malone from Petersburg, Virginia, to forego a collegiate career in favor of a professional contract.

Buckwalter also coached the Fresno Stars of the Western Basketball Association for a year before joining the Trail Blazers staff.

International basketball has always been of prime interest to Buckwalter, who even studied international law at the American Institute for Foreign Trade. He served as head coach of the Brazilian national team when it upset the Russian team in Moscow in 1975. Under his direction, the Blazers have been at the forefront of the NBA's international movement and drafted three players — Arvydas Sabonis, Pano Fasoulas and Drazen Petrovic — in 1986.

Buckwalter's roots are deeply planted in the Oregon soil. A 1952 graduate of La Grande High School in eastern Oregon, he paced his Blue Mountain Conference team to the state tournament as a 6-foot-2 senior forward with a reputation for being a furious competitor. La Grande finished fourth in the tournament and Buckwalter, who was also senior class president, earned all-state accolades.

Buckwalter played collegiate basketball at Utah, where he led the team in scoring as a sophomore and was all-conference his last two seasons. Those two final years saw Utah reach the NCAA tournament, only to lose to eventual champion San Francisco, which featured Bill Russell.

After serving as an assistant coach for eight seasons at Utah, Buckwalter took over as head coach at Seattle University in 1967-68 and in five seasons posted a sparkling 79-49 record, a .617 winning percentage.

Buckwalter's wife, Paula, and son, Bryan, are two of the Blazers' most visible supporters at games and functions. Bryan has worked with the team's broadcast crew.

BRAD GREENBERG

Brad Greenberg enters his third season as the Blazers' Director of Player Personnel. His responsibilities fall under the umbrella of roster management, specifically the evaluation of talent. He's involved with assessing and developing trade possibilities, draft preparation and selection, and assembling summer league and training camp rosters. Greenberg spends much of the season scouring the colleges, CBA and international leagues for talent. His off-season is devoted to sizing up talent at summer league games and at international amateur events. Out of that gruelling schedule has come the deepest roster in Blazer history.

Since Greenberg assumed his position in 1989 following two years as a team scout, the Blazers have completed significant roster moves including the acquisition of Buck Williams and Danny Ainge, and the drafting of Cliff Robinson and Alaa Abdelnaby. He oversees a comprehensive scouting data base that assimilates information from thousands of scouting reports and has earned the Blazers a reputation for being among the NBA's elite when it comes to roster management.

The 37-year-old Greenberg has seven years of NBA experience, including two seasons as an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Clippers and one with the New York Knicks. He carried the dual roles of coaching and player personnel for two seasons with the Clippers. Greenberg played collegiate basketball under Jim Lynam at American University, graduating in 1977, and served as an assistant coach to him for one year at American followed by three seasons at St. Joseph's. Greenberg spent six seasons at St. Joseph's before joining Lynam in Los Angeles. In seven seasons in the collegiate coaching ranks, Greenberg's teams posted a 141-65 record and made two NCAA and three NIT appearances. His experiences have made him one of the most respected talent evaluators in the NBA.

Brad and his wife Fran, a former Hoop Magazine columnist and CBA Director of Public Relations, live in Portland with their 5-year-old son Cory, and infant daughter, Ali Jordan.

MIKE SHIMENSKY

Mike Shimensky is in his fifth season as trainer for the Trail Blazers.

Now in his 11th year in the league, Shimensky began his NBA career with the San Diego Clippers in 1981. During his tenure with the club, he developed a strong reputation that led to his being hired by the Trail Blazers prior to the 1987-88 season. He served as trainer for the West Team at the 1991 NBA All-Star Game in Charlotte.

After attending Centralia Junior College in Washington, where he played baseball and basketball, Shimensky graduated from Central Washington University. He was inducted into the Athletics Hall of Fame at Central Washington in the spring of 1991.

Shimensky earned a masters degree in athletic training at the University of Arizona in 1973 and served as that school's assistant trainer, working with basketball, football and track and field. He became the first certified full-time trainer in the Phoenix school system and regularly held training seminars through the Sports Medicine Clinic to benefit coaches, trainers and nurses by providing them with better insight in to sports-related injuries.

Shimensky is a member of the National Athletic Trainer's Association and the National Strength and Conditioning Association. He and his wife, Roberta, have three children, Daniel, Andrew and Lauren.

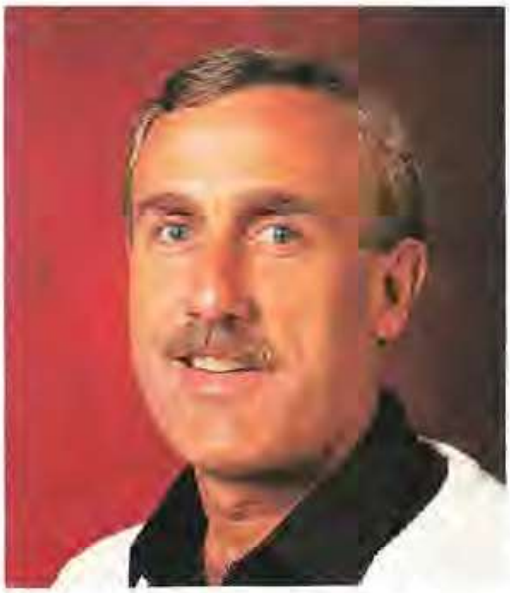
RICK ADELMAN



Who's the top head coach in the NBA today? Ask anyone familiar with the Portland Trail Blazers — be they players, fans or media — and the answer is resounding. Rick Adelman, in less than three seasons, has earned a level of respect that only a few in his profession ever obtain.

In Adelman's first two full seasons at the Blazer helm his club has won more regular season games than any team in the league and has dominated the other elite franchises that share the NBA limelight. Only a world championship is missing from a remarkable list of accomplishments that have rewritten the NBA record book.

While the achievements themselves are numerous, the fact that they've been reached with the style and character that Adelman brings to the job make them all the more meaningful to those around the Trail Blazers. The records speak for themselves, but it's the compassion used by the media and players when talking about Adelman that best describe the manner in which he's guided the organization to the top.

"Rick is a player's coach," says forward Jerome Kersey. "He has played the game and has the instinctive feelings only a player can have. He has kept things simple and let people play their games. You want to go out there and work hard for a coach like that. Rick has a great rapport with his players. And that's not easy."

"Of all the coaches I've played for, I think he really understands what he wants from his players," says 10-year veteran Buck Williams. "He wouldn't ask anything from Buck Williams or Cliff Robinson that he wouldn't ask from himself. Players really respect that."

"Rick has been the best coach in the league in my estimation the last two years," adds All-Star Clyde Drexler.

Adelman finished second in the NBA's Coach of the Year balloting last spring and third in 1990. A year ago, many NBA observers, including Adelman, felt that while Portland would be a better team than the 1989-90 squad that reached the NBA Finals, chances were slim that the Blazers could again win 59 games in a very tough Western Conference race. With considerably more pressure than the previous season, the Trail Blazers responded by winning 19 of their first 20 games and finishing with a club-record 63 victories. It was Adelman's ability to keep his team focused during the arduous 82-game schedule that led to the success.

"There's been a lot of pressure on him to win," first-year Blazer Danny Ainge told The Oregonian late in the season, "and he has done a fantastic job keeping the guys together. He's a great competitor, and that's contagious, but I think the best asset he has is the players respect him. When he says something, the guys listen to him."

The Trail Blazers found themselves in a new position during the 1990-91 campaign. As defending Western Conference Champions, they were the team that others were measuring themselves against. They were the team that everyone else went gunning for. It was Adelman's challenge to bring his team together and get it to respond to the intensity that it would face in 26 opponents on 82 nights. Seattle Sonics Coach K.C. Jones praised Adelman for his ability to do that.

"The man has an awesome record and look what he's done with that squad," Jones said. "He's given them a format so they can exercise creativity, but he's also instilled the work ethic necessary to be a champion.

"There's so much focus in this league on rewarding coaches who accomplish a little bit with less (talent) than rewarding those who accomplish a lot with more. You have to give the star players room to play and to feel the support of not only their teammates but the coach. All that comes back to communication, and that leads to chemistry. Rick lets his team play. The man has done an awesome job, and that's understated."

Using a less-is-more leadership style that seeks to "create an atmosphere where the player can succeed," Adelman has led Portland to a 122-42 (.744) record the last two seasons, the best mark in the league. Since becoming the seventh head coach in Portland history on February 18, 1989, Adelman has posted a 136-63 (.683) regular season record and 21-19 (.525) playoff ledger. The team has broken virtually every franchise standard related to winning. Adelman has been selected NBA Coach of the Month on three occasions, including last November and April.

Portland's dominance of the NBA has come at the expense of the league's elite teams. The Trail Blazers join seven other teams in having won at least 50 games in each of the last two seasons. Portland's record against those other seven is 34-20, an outstanding winning percentage of .630. What makes it all the more impressive is that only two other clubs, the Los Angeles Lakers (31-22/.585) and San Antonio Spurs (30-24/.556) have even managed to play .500 within that elite league of eight.

Adelman moved into second on Portland's all-time list for coaching victories with an April 4, 1991 triumph at Washington, surpassing the 127 wins posted by Mike Schuler. Only Jack Ramsay (453-367/.552) gained more victories as a Blazer head coach. The 1990-91 season was also highlighted by Adelman earning the opportunity to guide the West Team at the NBA All-Star Game in Charlotte.

The approach that leads to Adelman's success has been formed from his experience as a player, community college coach, NBA assistant coach and as a family man. His basketball career began at St. Pius X High School in Downey, Calif. and at Loyola University, where he scored what was then a school-record 1,415 points (an 18.6 average) in four years, beginning with the 1964-65 season. His coach at the time, John Arndt, knew that Adelman would go on to be a success.

"He's always been a terrific guy," Arndt said. "He never scored 40 — he was too unselfish a player to do that. Rick would do all the other things. He'd play defense and rebound. On top of that, he'd have four or five steals in a game and go after loose balls, too."

Rolland Todd, coach of the Trail Blazers in their first year, defined his team captain in a similar fashion.

"Basically Rick exemplifies the things we think are important to a winning player in the NBA," Todd said. "He's highly competitive, intellilgent and an unselfish ball player; a leader by example, not vocally. Rick's a catalyst for the other four guys on the floor. He makes things happen for them as much as for himself."

Adelman was selected by Portland from San Diego in the expansion draft of 1970 and played three seasons with the Trail Blazers (1970-71 through 1972-73). He averaged 9.8 points and 4.6 assists in 237 games, establishing what then was a Portland record for assists with 413 (5.2) in the second season.

Overall, the 6-foot-2 guard played in 462 regular-season games during a seven-year stint in the NBA that included stops in San Diego, Portland, Chicago, New Orleans and Kansas City-Omaha. He recorded 3,579 points (for a 7.7 average), 1,606 assists (for a 3.5 average) and shot .415 from the field and .713 from the foul line.

After retiring from the NBA, Adelman returned to Loyola to earn a master's degree in history and then worked for a year with Converse in southern California before accepting a head coaching job at Chemeketa Community College in Salem, Ore. in 1977.

In six seasons at Chemeketa his teams ammassed a 141-39 (.783) record, winning outright or sharing three Oregon community college championships and one Region 18 title. He also worked in counseling and taught physical education courses.

Jack Ramsay asked Adelman to join his coaching staff in Portland during the spring of 1983. He maintained his spot on the Blazer bench when Mike Schuler succeeded Ramsay in May of 1986. In addition to assisting during games and practices, much of his time was devoted to breaking down videotape and writing scouting reports on upcoming opponents. Game preparation became his specialty.

After taking over for Schuler in February of 1989, Adelman's team overcame an unforgiving schedule and some key injuries to advance to the NBA playoffs for the 12th time in 13 years. The word "interim" was dropped from his job title and he was awarded the position outright on May 11, 1989. Adelman signed a contract extension February 20, 1990 that runs through the 1992-93 season.

"Basketball is a game of mistakes, especially at this level," explains Adelman. "If you can't accept that, you're going to inhibit your players' creativity. This is a player's league. You have to accept that. And I think you get a lot more out of people by being positive rather than negative."

"I like to coach the way I wanted to be coached when I was a player," he adds. "That's just the way I've approached it, and the players have responded well. I try to include the players (in giving input) because it is as much their team as mine. I don't feel like I'm up here and they're down there."

Adelman's popularity in Portland, known by some as Adelmania, is due as much to his lifestyle off the court as it is to his success with a clipboard. He spends as much time as he can with his wife, Mary Kay, and children Kathy, R.J., Laura and David. All four children play school sports and Rick attends as many games as possible. Friends and neighbors claim that Adelman is the same "guy next door" that he was before the bright lights of the NBA discovered the City of Roses. Much of his free time is devoted to involvement in his church, local boys clubs and speaking to a variety of business and civic groups.

"Family is the most important part of my life," says Adelman, who turned 45 years old last June 16. "Everybody has a job, and it has to be important to you. But it's the people around you who are really important. If you lost sight of that, you've lost everything."

And for Rick Adelman, winning has become a way of life.

JACK SCHALOW

Jack Schalow is in his seventh season with the Trail Blazers, and fifth year as an assistant coach. A veteran of collegiate coaching ranks and the Continental Basketball Association, Schalow has served the Blazers in a variety of capacities during his tenure with the club.

Schalow joined the Blazers as a scout in December of 1985. Prior to undertaking those duties, he was the original head coach of the Wyoming Wildcatters in the CBA. In the 1982-83 season, the Wildcatters' first, Schalow guided the team to a runner-up finish in the league's Western Division. The next year, Wyoming won the Western Division and went the distance in the CBA championship series before falling to Phil Jackson's Albany Patroons in the final game. The 1984-85 season saw the Wildcatters win the Western Division regular season race but finish third in the division playoffs. In his three seasons at Wyoming, Schalow fashioned a 69-67 record and was runner-up for the CBA Coach-of-the-Year Award following the 1983-84 campaign.

Schalow is widely noted at the collegiate level as well. A graduate of University of the Pacific, Schalow served as freshman coach at his alma mater in Stockton, Calif. His other head coaching assignment came at Morehead State in Kentucky. Schalow also served as assistant coach at Duke, Louisiana State and Seattle University. Two of his five seasons at Seattle were as an assistant under Bucky Buckwalter, current vice-president of basketball operations with the Blazers.

Jack is the father of daughter Traci Ann and son Terry. He and his wife, Valda, and children, Bridger and Lanie, reside in southwest Portland. When not on the basketball court, Jack can most often be found working out or working with his cutting horse, Smart Little Tari. A native of Velva, North Dakota, Schalow is an accomplished rider who has showed regionally and travelled across the country to develop his cutting abilities.

JOHN WETZEL

John Wetzel, a former player, assistant coach and head coach in the NBA, is in his fourth season with the Trail Blazers.

Wetzel, 46, was head coach with the Phoenix Suns during the 1987-88 season after serving as an assistant with the team for eight years. A veteran of seven seasons as a player with Los Angeles, Phoenix and Atlanta, he retired in 1976 (with averages of 3.4 points and 1.4 assists) only to return to the game as a coach two years later.

His first coaching experience came during the 1978-79 season when he guided the Washington Lumberjacks of the Western Basketball Association to a 29-19 record. A 1966 graduate of Virginia Tech, Wetzel was a finalist for the Cleveland Cavaliers' head coaching position in 1986.

Wetzel was an eighth-round selection of the Lakers in the 1966 NBA Draft but did not play that season due to a broken wrist. He was picked by Phoenix in the 1968 Expansion Draft but spent two years in military service before joining the Suns prior to the 1970-71 campaign. Following three seasons with Atlanta, Wetzel returned to Phoenix in time for the 1975-76 season that saw the Suns advance to the NBA Finals. In the summer of 1976, he became the first player to retire as a member of the Suns.

Wetzel and his wife, Dianne, have two sons, Mark and Paul. Wetzel's time away from basketball is often devoted to road running, hiking and sharpening an ever-improving golf game.

Panasonic introduces the Palmcorder. A compact VHS camcorder that fits in the palm of your hand.

Some compact camcorders shoot tapes that won't play in the VHS recorder you already own. Instead they force you to connect your camcorder to your TV every time you want to watch your tapes. And because your camcorder's being used for recording and playback, it's getting twice the wear.

Not with the Panasonic Palmcorder camcorders. They're all VHS. Their tapes simply slip into the PlayPak which then slides into your VCR like any ordinary tape.

The Panasonic PV-21 Palmcorder combines 4 lux low light capability and 5 watt color enhancement light. Its flying erase head produces clean transitions between scenes. And it has an 8 to 1 zoom lens with digital auto focus.

So before it's too late, before you buy a compact VHS-C camcorder, Panasonic has a good question for you... "Will its tapes play in your VCR?"

WARNING! BEFORE YOU BUY A COMPACT CAMCORDER, ASK..."WILL ITS TAPES PLAY IN MY VCR?"

THE PANASONIC PALMCORDER.™ IT'S VHS! SO ITS TAPES WILL PLAY IN YOUR VHS RECORDER.

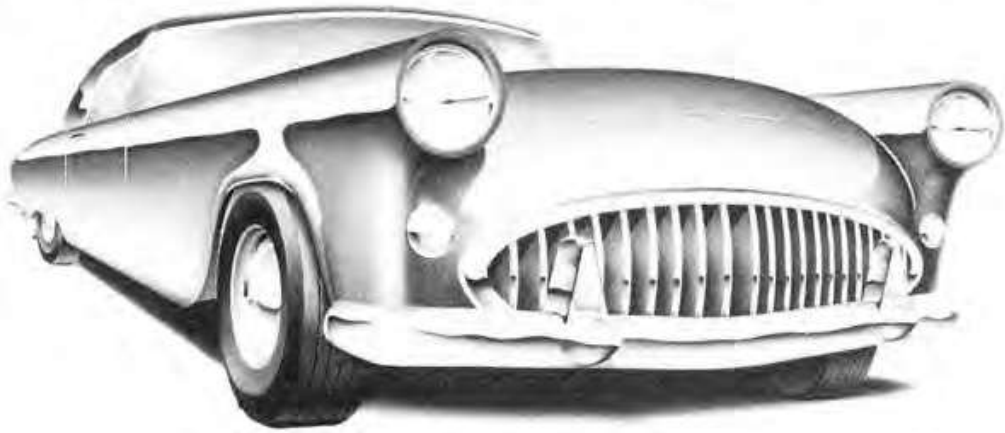
Love It & Leave It.



If you're driving to a big city airport because of how much you think you'll save in airfare, save yourself the trouble. Instead, get a flying start on Horizon Air.

We're well connected with Alaska, Northwest and other airlines, so you can get a low fare from your hometown airport to practically anywhere. And when you fly, you steer clear of extra costs for gas, food and parking.

Call your travel agent or Horizon Air toll free 1-800-547-9308. Then take off with us and leave your troubles behind.

Bill Walton virtually made a career out of rebounding against Golden State. He recorded two 26-rebound games, six games of 20 or more retrieves, ten of 17 or more and was in double figures in that stat column in 15 of 16 outings as a Blazer. He averaged 17.3 caroms per game in the all-time series with the Warriors.

The Long And The Short Of It

The longest game in Trail Blazer history was a three-hour 24-minute marathon against Chicago that was settled after four overtimes (3-16-84). Three games lasted exactly two-hours 30-minutes to set the record for longest regulation contests. They included games at San Antonio (1-23-77) and Golden State (3-18-88) and versus Kansas City (3-11-77). The shortest game in Blazer history was a one-hour 42-minute encounter with the Lakers in Los Angeles (12-29-78).

PORTLAND TEAM HISTORY

Right now, all over the world, IBM is involved with more sports than you can shake a club at. Or a bat. Or a racquet.

That's because from recording RBIs, to tracking aces, to helping deserving teens attend major league showdowns, IBM's people and technology are participating in sports events that benefit athletes and fans alike.

Which is why, if you see anything computer-oriented at your favorite tournament, game or match, chances are it'll be sporting three familiar letters:

The IBM PS/2® is the official computer of the NBA.

FAMOUS FIRSTS IN BLAZER HISTORY

Feb. 6, 1970: Professional basketball's first day in Portland as the city is granted an NBA franchise.

Mar. 23, 1970: Princeton's Geoff Petrie is selected as Portland's first college draft choice.

Apr. 21, 1970: Rolland Todd of the University of Nevada-Las Vegas is hired as the first head coach of the Trail Blazers.

Aug. 17, 1970: Bill Schonely is named the Blazers' first broadcaster.

Oct. 16, 1970: A crowd of 4,273 watches as Portland defeats Cleveland, 115-112, at Memorial Coliseum in the Blazers' first regular season contest. A free throw by Jim Barnett at the 9:18 mark of the 1st quarter is the first point scored by a Trail Blazer. Ron Knight charts the first field goal at 8:25 of the opening period.

Oct. 23, 1970: KPTV Channel 12 airs the first televised Trail Blazer game from Seattle.

Jan. 12, 1971: Geoff Petrie becomes the first Trail Blazer to play in an NBA All-Star Game.

July 29, 1971: Rick Adelman is named the first captain in team history.

Nov. 3, 1973: Portland defeats the world champion New York Knicks, 107-100, in front of 12,086 Coliseum fans—the first home crowd in history to top the 12,000 mark.

Nov. 1, 1974: President Gerald Ford watches the Blazers defeat Buffalo, 113-106, at Memorial Coliseum. According to White House reports at that time, it was the first time a United States President attended an NBA game.

June 5, 1977: The Trail Blazers turn back the Philadelphia 76ers, 109-107, to win the NBA Championship Series, 4-2, giving Portland its first world championship.

Oct. 22, 1977: Portland tops San Antonio, 130-115, in the first closed circuit telecast at the Paramount Theatre. A crowd of 2,851 turns out to watch the game televised via big screen from the Coliseum.

Mar. 24, 1979: Lloyd Neal's jersey #36 becomes the first uniform number retired by the Blazers.

Oct. 10, 1980: Portland becomes the first NBA team to award four college scholarships as part of the league's scholarship program.

Jan. 25, 1983: ON-TV airs a Blazer home game with the Los Angeles Lakers. It was the team's first cable television game.

Apr. 24, 1987: Mike Schuler is honored as the NBA Coach of the Year, the first Blazer coach to earn the Red Auerbach Trophy.

Feb. 21, 1988: Jim Paxson becomes the first player to record 10,000 career points in a Trail Blazer uniform during a 117-112 victory over San Antonio.

The Trail Blazers played their only official regular season game outside the United States on March 10, 1974. Portland lost to the Buffalo Braves, 122-112, in Toronto.

PORTLAND TRADE HISTORY

NOTES TO TRADE HISTORY

1. If a third team is not mentioned in the transaction then assume any draft pick is the choice of the team Portland is trading with or Portland's choice.
2. If a draft choice acquired in a transaction is subsequently traded by Portland in that original deal the choice is listed as: choice traded. Everywhere else when a draft choice is mentioned the player eventually selected either by Portland or by the team that finally wound up with that draft choice is shown in parenthesis.
3. In trades only what actually happened is given. If a team has several options in a deal only the one they decided to use is given.
4. Names in boldface indicate players who played for Blazers.

PORTLAND YEARLY ATTENDANCE

For the 14th straight season, the Portland Trail Blazers were sold out in 1990-91 for all 50 home games, 41 during the regular campaign and 9 in the playoffs. That stretched Portland's record for consecutive sellouts for regular-season and playoff action to 631, an all-time National Basketball Association record and the longest current streak in sports.

The last time the Blazers failed to sell out was on April 5, 1977, when a crowd of 12,359 turned out for a game with Detroit. The 10-millionth fan watched Portland's game with Phoenix at the Coliseum on November 27, 1990.

In Portland's first 21 seasons, the team has drawn 9,836,526 fans for 859 regular-season games. That's an average of 11,586 a contest. For 914 regular-season and playoff games, the Blazers have drawn 10,539,789 fans for an average of 11,531 a contest.

In 41 regular-season road games in 1990-91, Portland played before 649,299 fans, an average of 15,837 a contest.

For the entire regular season, home and road, attendance was 1,177,543 for Portland games, an average of 14,360 a game.

1992 FIRST ROUND NOTES:

(1) Atlanta has the option to swap choices with Sacramento in 1992. If the option is exercised, Atlanta can gain maximum of nine spots. Atlanta may not swap with a "lottery" choice.

(2) If Denver's 1992 second round choice is one of the top nine, it will be conveyed to Washington unless it is acquired by Portland pursuant to the Petrovic trade. If the choice is not conveyed in 1992 to Washington and Denver's second round choice is in the top nine in 1993, this second round choice will be conveyed to Washington in 1993 unless it is acquired by Portland pursuant to the Petrovic trade. If neither Denver's 1992 or 1993 choices are in the top nine, then Washington will be entitled to both the 1994 and 1995 Denver second round choices (unless Portland acquires Denver's 1994 second round pick pursuant to the Petrovic trade). If Denver's 1992 second round choice is in the top nine but is acquired by Portland, then, in addition to the above mentioned rights, Washington will have the right to "swap" its own first round pick with Denver's own first round pick beginning in the 1992 Draft, through and including the 1996 Draft, in which both such picks are "non-lottery" picks. In the event that Denver acquires an additional 1992 top nine pick (and Portland exercises its option to acquire Denver's 1992 second round pick pursuant to the Petrovic trade), then Denver shall convey the second most favorable top nine pick to Washington, in which event Washington will no longer have the right to "swap" the above mentioned first round picks, and Denver shall have no further obligation to Washington pursuant to the Michael Adams' trade (6-11-91).

(3) If New Jersey's first round choice is not 1-12 in the 1992 draft, it must be conveyed to Denver. If the choice is not conveyed in 1992, and the choice is not 1-7 in 1993, New Jersey will convey to Denver its first round pick in 1993. If the choice is not conveyed in either 1992 or 1993, New Jersey will convey its first round pick in 1994 with no contingencies attached.

HENRY WEINHARD

Henry Weinhard
Brewmaster, No. 1, 5'10", 171 lbs.
Born: 1830, Wurtemburg, Germany
High School: Wurtemburg Area
College: Brewers apprentice

At the age of 22, and after years of apprenticeship, a talented Henry Weinhard decided he was ready for the major leagues. Upon surveying his options, Henry determined the best opportunity for a rookie such as him was in America.

In 1852 he came to the United States and immediately found a berth with the brewers in Cincinati, Ohio. He spent four years with this team polishing his skills

As a free agent, he was intrigued by reports concerning bright openings on the Pacific coast. So early in 1856 he made the long voyage, via the isthmus, to the far west and hooked up with a Vancouver, Washington organization where he plied his trade for six months.

He then felt the time was right to make his move, so, in 1856, he established his own brewery near Fort Vancouver. It wasn't long before soldiers, loggers and trappers of the area became very big Henry Weinhard fans.

In 1860 he moved his operations to its present location on Burnside in Portland. From then on, Henry chalked up an enviable record of victories. He kept acquiring more equipment and adding more facilities to constantly increase his output while stubbornly maintaining the high level of excellence he had become known for. Everywhere along the coast Weinhard's beer was recognized as unsurpassed by any other native product.

Henry's experience and foresight prompted him to locate in Portland because he realized this area would eventually become the primary source of premium brewing ingredients in the United States. Time has proven him right.

Rare, two-row malting barley, for example, is grown in very few areas of the country, but Oregon's Klamath Basin is the most prominent. And the unique Cascade hops — which Henry recognized as being equal if not superior to the exalted Hallertau hop of Bavaria are raised here in Oregon.

Today, two labels continue in the proud, teutonic tradition set forth by Henry Weinhard 124 years ago. The perennial hometown favorite, Blitz-Weinhard, and the handmade, ultra-premium that is his namesake, Henry Weinhard's Private Reserve.

Trailblazer fans can expect a lot of good things from both of them this season. Again.

BLAZERS vs. ATLANTA — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 116, HAWKS 111, January 28, 1991
At Portland (Game 44, 37-7)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
28-32	39-34	23-26	26-19	116-111	12,884

The Blazers tied a club record by sinking nine 3-point field goals. . . Portland made 6-of-7 3-pointers in a 39-point second quarter. . . Terry Porter, who was 4-of-6 from three-point territory, drilled a "3" with 35 seconds left that gave the Blazers a 112-107 lead and all but grounded the Hawks. . . Porter led Portland with 23 points. . . Danny Ainge made 3-of-4 3-point attempts and finished with 14 points in 19 minutes. . . Dominique Wilkins made 10 of his first 12 field goal attempts and scored 21 of his game-high 34 points in the first half. . . Spud Webb tied his career high with 26 points and also dished out 11 assists. . . This was the seventh straight win for the Blazers.

HAWKS 117, BLAZERS 109, February 28, 1991
At Atlanta (Game 57, 44-13)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
19-23	28-22	33-29	29-43	109-117	14,297

The Blazers lost their third consecutive game, the first time all season they had lost three-in-a-row. . . Portland shot .505 from the field, but was outscored 36-11 at the foul line. . . The Blazers committed 20 second half fouls, compared to six for Atlanta. . . Portland led 80-74 entering the fourth quarter, only to have Atlanta open the period with a 20-5 run that pushed the Hawks' lead to 94-85 with six minutes to go in the game. . . The Blazers responded by scoring eight of the next 10 points and were down 101-93 with 2:38 remaining when Clyde Drexler received two quick technicals from Bob Delaney and was ejected for the third time on the year. . . Portland could not get any closer than eight points the rest of the way, as Atlanta outscored the Blazers 43-29 in the final quarter. . . The Hawks reserves outscored the Blazer bench, 43-25, behind a game-high 26-point performance by Kenny Battle. . . Clyde Drexler, Kevin Duckworth and Terry Porter all finished with 20 points, and Duckworth nabbed a team-high 11 rebounds.

Moses Malone holds or shares Free Throws Attempted records for four different teams against Portland. He attempted 22 while with Atlanta, 21 with Philadelphia, 19 with Houston and 16 with Washington.

BLAZERS vs. BOSTON — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 116, CELTICS 107, March 3, 1991
At Boston (Game 59, 45-14)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
29-29	22-27	32-24	33-27	116-107	14,890

In their first appearance of the season on NBC Sports, the Blazers snapped their longest losing streak in two seasons (four games) and earned their second consecutive win in Boston for the first time since the 1977-78 and 78-79 seasons. . . This game marked a matchup of the teams with the best record in their respective conferences. . . Larry Bird scored 16 of his team-high 28 points in the first 7:35 of the third quarter to push Boston in front, 78-67. . . The Blazers responded with a 16-2 spurt over the final four minutes to take an 83-80 advantage into the fourth quarter. . . Leading 94-93, Terry Porter keyed an 8-0 Portland run that produced a 102-93 lead with 4:32 to go. . . Cliff Robinson's defense held Bird to just one fourth quarter field goal, and Boston could get no closer than four points the rest of the way. . . Clyde Drexler powered Portland with 29 points and 13 rebounds, tallying 21 points and 8 rebounds in the second half. . . Although they did not shoot a foul shot in the first half, the Blazers made 20-of-26 (.769) in the second half. . . Portland committed only six turnovers, while the Celtics had 18.

CELTICS 111, BLAZERS 109, March 10, 1991

Portland's four-game winning streak over Boston was snapped as the Blazers lost for fifth time in their last six outings. . . Portland shot .453 from the field and outrebounded the Celtics, 53-37, but the Blazers made just 19-of-29 foul shots (.655), while the Celtics converted 28-of-28 (.821). . . Leading 28-27 after one quarter, the Blazers opened the second period by making just two of their first 15 field goal attempts as Boston jumped out to a 45-32 lead. . . Trailing 62-54 in the third quarter, Portland battled ahead, 74-70, capped by consecutive three-point field goals by Terry Porter, before the Celtics regained the lead 77-76 going into the fourth quarter. . . With the score tied at 98, Porter's 18-foot jump shot was too long and the game went into overtime. . . In the extra period, Boston sank 9-of-11 free throw attempts and lead 106-105 before a Clyde Drexler steal and assist to Jerome Kersey gave the Blazers a 107-106 lead. . . Dee Brown fed Robert Parish for a dunk and the Celtics went back on top, 108-107. . . Porter was then tied up by Brown as he brought the ball up the court, and lost the jump ball. . . The Blazers had to foul Brown, who made both free throws with 16.6 seconds to play to give Boston a 110-107 advantage. . . After two Danny Ainge foul shots with 6.8 remaining, Reggie Lewis was fouled and sank one-of-two free throw attempts to end the scoring at 111-109. . . The Boston bench outscored the Blazer reserves, 30-6. . . Bird led the Celtics with 27 points and played a season-high 52 minutes. . . Jerome Kersey and Clyde Drexler paced Portland with 25 points each, and Kevin Duckworth tallied 22 points and 10 rebounds.

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
31-27	36-24	20-33	38-28	125-112	12,884

Portland shot .623 (48-77) from the field while keeping its record a perfect 9-0, tying the club record for the best start in franchise history set in 1979-80. . . All five Blazers starters reached double-figures in scoring, led by Clyde Drexler's game-high 30 points (12-19 FGs). . . Kevin Duckworth (10-13 FGs, 25 points) and Buck Williams (6-7 FGs, 13 points) enjoyed fine shooting performances. . . Danny Ainge was a perfect 4-for-4 from the field, including two three-point field goals, as he tallied 12 points in 19 minutes. . . Portland entered the fourth quarter with an 87-84 lead, only to have Ainge hit three straight baskets and score seven points in an 8-2 run that increased the lead to 95-86. . . The Blazers outscored the Bulls, 14-2, in first-half fastbreak points and 20-6 for the game.

Portland completed its third 4-0 road trip in franchise history with the win. . . The game was the Blazers' sixth in eight days. . . Clyde Drexler (29), Terry Porter (25), and Danny Ainge (12) combined for 66 points, and scored 25 of Portland's 33 fourth-quarter points. . . The Blazer defense held Chicago scoreless in its first 12 possessions of the second quarter. . . Michael Jordan scored 35 points, but was held to only 13 in the second half. . . A Jordan dunk brought the Bulls within 94-92 before Porter responded with five straight points to extend the Blazer lead to 99-92. . . The victory was the Blazers' 18th in 19 games; in NBA history, only the 1969-70 New York Knicks enjoyed a better start (23-1) at the beginning of a season.

Rick Adelman recorded his 100th career head coaching victory as the Blazers picked up their third win in four days and ran their road record to 12-2. . . The victory also marked Portland's first triumph in Cleveland since the 1985-86 season. . . Jerome Kersey suffered a pulled left calf muscle with 8:34 remaining in the game and was wheeled off the court. . . The Cavs led 33-32 after shooting .667 (14-21) from the field in the first frame, while Portland made 13 of 23 shots (.565) and turned the ball over only once in the opening 12 minutes. . . With 2:16 left in the first quarter, Craig Ehlo was ejected from the game after throwing a punch at Kevin Duckworth. . . After trailing by as many as 13 points, the Cavs rallied behind Danny Ferry who finished the game with a career-high 21 points, five assists and six rebounds to close within 112-109 with 2:17 left in the game. . . Portland led 116-111 with 43.6 seconds left when Clyde Drexler banked a 3-point shot to seal the triumph. . . Drexler finished with a game-high 28 points (13-21 FGs), three rebounds, nine assists and four steals.

BLAZERS vs. DALLAS — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 106, MAVERICKS 104, December 14, 1990
At Portland (Game 22, 20-2)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
18-24	32-17	36-34	20-29	106-104	12,884

Rolando Blackman missed a 10-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining that would have sent the game into overtime. . . The Blazers opened the second period with a 19-2 run, as Cliff Robinson hit 7 of 10 shots in the quarter and Clyde Drexler scored 22 of his game-high 29 points in the quarter. . . After Dallas pulled within 96-92, Terry Porter (16 points) scored Portland's next eight points to provide a 104-100 lead with 2:28 remaining. . . James Donaldson, who made 10-of-11 shots from the field en route to a 22-point night, scored on the next two possessions to cut the Portland lead to 106-104. . . Blackman's left handed dunk attempt bounced off the rim, and after a Blazer turnover, his final field goal attempt misfired. . . The Blazer bench outscored the Maverick reserves, 33-17.

MAVERICKS 109, BLAZERS 99, January 9, 1991
At Dallas (Game 36, 30-6)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
26-32	16-22	23-27	34-28	99-109	17,007

The Blazers were held to a .412 (40-97) field goal percentage for the game and outrebounded the Mavs, 60-43. . . Portland was hit with four technical fouls, including two on Kevin Duckworth that resulted in his ejection. . . Cliff Robinson started in place of the injured Jerome Kersey (strained left calf muscle), and tallied 14 points and 10 rebounds. . . All five Dallas starters reached double-digits in scoring, led by the game-high 24-point performances by Rolando Blackman and Alex English. . . The Blazer bench outscored the Dallas reserves, 35-18.

BLAZERS 107, MAVERICKS 100, February 19, 1991

BLAZERS vs. DETROIT — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 113, PISTONS 101, November 9, 1990
At Portland (Game 4, 4-0)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
26-18	30-22	33-28	24-33	113-101	12,884

The Blazers led wire-to-wire and handed Detroit its 21st straight regular-season loss at Memorial Coliseum en route to their fourth consecutive season-opening win. . . Portland made 45 of 79 shots from the field (.570), held Detroit to a .430 (40-93) mark and outrebounded the Pistons, 44-34. . . The Blazers opened up an 11-point lead as Detroit made just eight of 24 first quarter shots. . . Portland owned a 56-40 halftime advantage, led by Kevin Duckworth's 16 first half points in just 17 minutes of action. . . The Blazer advantage bulged to 24 points in the third quarter as Portland made 15 of 20 field goal shots in the period. . . Vinnie Johnson tried to provide a last-ditch spark for the Pistons in the fourth quarter, nailing four three-point field goals that helped slice Portland's lead to eight with 3:20 remaining before the Blazers put together a 6-0 run that clinched the win. . . Terry Porter tallied a team-high 28 points (10-14 FGs) and 10 assists while Kevin Duckworth notched 27 points (12-17 FGs). . . Mark Aguirre led all scorers with 30 points (11-25 FGs).

Bill Laimbeer's 10-foot basket with three-tenths of a second remaining in overtime handed the Blazers their eighth loss in their last nine visits to Detroit. . . In the second stanza, Portland poured in five three-pointers, made 13 of 18 shots from the floor and built a lead of as many as nine points before settling for a 53-47 halftime advantage. . . Trailing by ten points with 6:30 left in the fourth quarter, the Blazers held the Pistons to one field goal and just one point in the final 3:17 before a 6-0 run put Portland ahead 90-89 with 26.7 seconds left in regulation. . . Bill Laimbeer made one of two free throws to even matters at 90 before the Blazers, with 12.8 seconds remaining, could not get a shot off and the game went into overtime. . . The Pistons led throughout the extra period before the Blazers pulled even at 98 with 11.8 seconds to go. . . Laimbeer, who had made just two of his first 12 shots in the game, took a pass from Isiah Thomas and buried the game winner. . . Thomas led all scorers with 24 points and added 11 assists, while Clyde Drexler paced Portland with 20 points. . . The Blazers bench outscored the Piston reserves, 30-18.

35-36	41-16	34-36	33-31	143-119	12,884

Portland established a new franchise record for the best start in team history with its 10th consecutive win to open the season and its 14th straight victory over the past two seasons. . . In a sensational second quarter, Portland outscored Golden State, 41-16, outrebounding them 15-6. . . The Blazer bench outscored the Warriors reserves, 59-34, led by Cliff Robinson's 18 points (7-10 FGs). . . Portland had eight players reach double figures in scoring, led by Clyde Drexler's team-high 22 points.

BLAZERS 122, WARRIORS 94, December 18, 1990
At Portland (Game 24, 22-2)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
35-9	35-29	22-31	30-25	122-94	12,884

The Blazers held the third-highest scoring team in the league to the lowest first quarter output by an opponent in franchise history. . . In the opening period, the Blazer defense held Golden State to 4-for-22 shooting from the field (.182). . . Portland led 70-38 at the half. . . Clyde Drexler led all scorers with 20 points, and Jerome Kersey added 18 (7-9 FGs).

WARRIORS 125, BLAZERS 118, December 20, 1990
At Golden State (Game 25, 22-3)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
25-28	29-34	36-33	28-30	118-125	15,025

Tim Hardaway charted a career-high 36 points (15-22 FGs) and dished out 15 assists. . . He combined with Chris Mullin (25) and Mitch Richmond (24) to score 85 of the Warriors' 125 points in the game (68%). . . Clyde Drexler led all scorers with 37 points. . . The Blazers trailed only 115-112 with 1:28 remaining, whe Darrel Garretson whistled Kevin Duckworth for a flagrant foul on Alton Lister. Lister made both free throws, the Warriors retained possession and scored on a Tom Tolbert drive to lead 119-112. . . Portland's last lead in the game came late in the first quarter.

BLAZERS 119, WARRIORS 99, February 1, 1991
At Portland (Game 46, 38-8)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
27-23	34-33	27-24	31-19	119-99	12,884

Kevin Duckworth posted a double-double of 26 points and 10 rebounds, and set a career high for free throws made by sinking 14-of-16 foul line attempts. . . Portland led, 40-28, with 8:21 to go in the first half, only to have Golden State use 26-16 run to pull even at 54. . . In the fourth quarter, the Blazers built a 100-85 lead with 6:30 remaining in the game when Mitch Richmond (team high 21 points) suffered a sprained right ankle and left the game. . . Clyde Drexler led all scorers with 32 points and the Blazers shot .513 (41-80) from the field. . . The win gave the Blazers the season-series advantage over the Warriors for the 11th time in the last 14 years.

WARRIORS 136, BLAZERS 126, March 19, 1991
At Portland (Game 65, 48-17)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
29-40	29-42	35-27	33-27	126-136	15,025

The Blazers suffered their eighth loss in 11 games and fell out of first place in the Pacific Division for 24 hours—the only time all season they did not reside in the Pacific Division penthouse. . . Mitch Richmond sank 16 of 19 shots from the floor and tied his season high in scoring with 40 points. . . Golden State led 40-29 after one quarter and enjoyed a 64-35 bulge early in the second quarter as Richmond made his 11th shot without a miss. . . The Warriors led 82-58 at the half, boasting a .711 (32-45) field goal percentage. . . Behind the strong play of Jerome Kersey (35 points) and Clyde Drexler (30 points, 11 assists), the Blazers climbed to within 125-117 with 3:30 left in regulation, but could not overcome the Golden State advantage. . . Golden State got 29 points and 11 assists from Tim Hardaway, and Chris Mullin scored 26 points.

BLAZERS vs. HOUSTON — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 90, ROCKETS 89, November 2, 1990
At Portland (Game 1, 1-0)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
27-27	20-32	29-16	14-14	90-89	12,884

The Blazers opened the evening by hoisting their Western Conference Championship banner to the rafters at Memorial Coliseum. . . Portland earned the victory despite being outrebounded, 50-44, and shooting just .371 from the field. . . In his debut as a Trail Blazer, Danny Ainge scored 14 points in 22 minutes, while Clyde Drexler scored a game-high 29 points. . . The Blazers held the Rockets to just 30 second-half points, tying a club record for fewest points by an opponent in a half. . . Portland used a 14-1 run to take a 90-83 lead inside the game's final three minutes, only to be held scoreless by the Rockets, whose 20-foot jump shot by David Wood at the buzzer fell short.

BLAZERS 123, ROCKETS 97, January 8, 1991
At Houston (Game 35, 30-5)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
32-20	30-24	30-29	31-24	123-97	14,250

The Rockets went without Hakeem Olajuwon, awaiting surgery for his eye injury, replacing him with Dave Feitl. . . Portland opened its second-longest road trip of the season (five games) with the win and ran its road record to 13-3. . . The Blazers scored the first eight points of the game and 15 of the first 19. . . Three Blazers topped the 20-point plateau (Ainge, Drexler, Duckworth) as Portland posted a .556 field goal percentage and outrebounded the Rockets, 59-39. . . Mark Bryant came off the Blazer bench to score 11 points (5-6 FGs) and grab 12 rebounds. . . The Blazer defense held Houston to a .407 mark from the floor.

BLAZERS 103, ROCKETS 93, April 9, 1991
At Houston (Game 76, 58-18)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
27-25	20-23	36-27	20-18	103-93	16,611

Portland snapped Houston's 11-game homecourt success string, handing the red-hot Rockets only their second loss in 19 outings. . . The Blazers shot .364 from the field in the first half and trailed 66-54 midway through the third quarter before a 16-2 run gave them a 70-68 advantage. . . The Blazers outscored the Rockets, 29-9, over the final six minutes of the third quarter, finishing the period by making 9-of-10 shots and scoring on each of their final 10 possessions. . . Clyde Drexler had 11 points in the third and finished with a game-high 26 points, 9 rebounds and 8 assists. . . The Blazers earned the triumph despite being outrebounded, 48-45, and shooting .413 from the field.

BLAZERS 115, ROCKETS 96, April 16, 1991
At Portland (Game 80, 62-18)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
21-22	29-17	38-22	27-35	115-96	12,884

The Blazer bench outscored the Rockets reserves, 67-47, with Walter Davis charting a Blazer-best 16 points. . . Houston committed 20 turnovers and had a total of 19 team assists, while Portland passed out 33 assists. . . Trailing 22-21 after the first quarter, the Blazers opened the second with a 12-2 spurt as the Rockets made one of their first 12 shots from the floor. . . Houston was held to a .227 (5-22) field goal percentage in the second quarter. . . To open the third, the Rockets' poor shooting continued as they converted just 3 of their first 13 shots and entered the final quarter trailing, 88-61.

BLAZERS vs. INDIANA — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 127, PACERS 105, December 7, 1990
At Indiana (Game 18, 17-1)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
38-26	23-28	38-26	28-25	127-105	10,925

Portland ran its record to 17-1, equaling the second-best start in NBA history (Milwaukee, 1970-71 & 71-72) with the win and improved their road mark to a perfect 7-0. . . All five Blazer starters were in double figures in scoring early in the third quarter and all 12 Blazers tallied points in the game. . . Trailing the Blazers, 53-35, in the second quarter, the Pacers put together a 19-8 run to pull within 61-54 at the half. . . Terry Porter (8-9 FGs) scored 10 of his 19 points in the opening six minutes of the third quarter as the Blazers moved out, 80-62. . . Clyde Drexler led all scorers with 23 points, added five assists and five steals and held Reggie Miller—who entered the game averaging 22.9 points—to 10 points. . . Buck Williams posted 20 points (6-8 FGs) and 7 rebounds and Jerome Kersey added 18 points and 9 boards. . . Portland's 127 points marked the most given up by Indiana in its first 19 games of the season. . . Chuck Person led the Pacers with 22 points.

BLAZERS 122, PACERS 96, December 11, 1990
At Portland (Game 20, 19-1)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
33-34	30-19	29-14	30-29	122-96	12,884

Portland outscored Indiana, 89-62, over the final three quarters of the contest to record their eighth straight win and improve their season record to 19-1. . . Indiana set the pace after one quarter, 34-33, as the Blazers missed 10 of their first 15 layup opportunities. . . Portland used an 18-3 binge midway through the second quarter to pull away, 63-53, at halftime. . . The Blazers went on to score the first six points, and 14 of the first 16, to take a 77-55 lead with 9:23 left in the period. . . Portland shot .505 (47-93) from the floor, held Indiana to a .402 (33-82) mark and outrebounded the Pacers, 51-37. . . Kevin Duckworth led all scorers with 21 points (9-12 FGs) and grabbed 6 rebounds. . . Reggie Miller led the Pacers with 19 points, despite leaving the game in the third quarter with a bruised knee.

1	2	3	4	OT	Final	Att.
23-27	38-28	24-28	32-34	6-8	125-123	16,361

Terry Porter's 18-foot jumper with 11.6 seconds left in overtime gave the Blazers the two-point triumph and dropped the Lakers to 0-2, the first time in six years they opened a season with that record. . . Los Angeles logged a .528 field goal percentage, while Portland charted a .517 worksheet. . . Portland posted the win despite losing Jerome Kersey (cervical strain) in the first quarter. . . Tied at 117 at the end of regulation, the Blazers missed their first six shots of overtime and Los Angeles led, 123-117. . . The Blazers began an 8-0 run that would close out the session with a three-pointer from Clyde Drexler, who finished with a game-high 27 points. . . Terry Teagle's 20-foot try missed at the buzzer.

Portland fell behind, 21-10, by making only four of its first 18 shots from the field. . . Kevin Duckworth scored a team-high 27 points, including 13 third-quarter points as the Blazers entered the final quarter leading, 80-77. . . After tying the score at 98, the Blazers missed their next six shots and trailed 102-98 with 1:05 remaining. . . Duckworth's drive with 25.4 seconds to go cut the deficit to 104-102 before Byron Scott's two free throws pushed the margin to 106-102 with 18.1 seconds left. . . The Blazers finished the game with a .438 field goal percentage. . . Clyde Drexler scored 14 of his 20 points over the final 13 minutes of the game.

Just two nights after coming back from a 24-point deficit to defeat Seattle, the Blazers rallied from a 21-point hole to down the Lakers, marking the second and third largest comebacks, respectively, in franchise history. . . The Lakers were leading, 65-44, in the third quarter when Portland rattled off 17 unanswered points, holding Los Angeles scoreless on 11 consecutive possessions. . . Clyde Drexler's 3-point field goal topped off a 25-2 run that gave Portland a 69-67 advantage. . . In the fourth quarter, the Lakers led, 92-84, with 4:08 to go before the Blazers notched nine unanswered points to lead 93-92 with 1:21 left. . . Beginning overtime tied at 94, Kevin Duckworth and Cliff Robinson fouled out in the first two minutes of the extra frame. . . Tied at 105 with 35.5 seconds remaining, Terry Porter blocked Earvin Johnson's inside shot and Drexler fed Buck Williams for a fast-break layup. . . A Drexler dunk off a Sam Perkins miss sealed the victory. . . Williams held James Worthy to just 6 second-half points after he had tallied 20 in the first half.

BLAZERS 118, LAKERS 113, April 13, 1991
At Portland (Game 78, 60-18)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
30-29	35-20	26-39	27-25	118-113	12,884

Portland set a franchise record for most victories in a season and wrapped up its first Pacific Division Championship since the 1977-78 season by earning its 60th win of the year. . . Clyde Drexler led the Blazers to their 13th straight victory with a 31-point performance. . . Trailing the Blazers, 77-57, Los Angeles rallied to take a 98-97 advantage with 7:59 to play in the game. . . The Lakers led for only 12 seconds as Cliff Robinson, who contributed 16 points off the Blazer bench, put the Blazers back on top with a hoop and Portland never trailed again. . . The Blazers shot a sizzling .603 from the field and outrebounded the Lakers, 36-29.

BLAZERS vs. MILWAUKEE — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BUCKS 117, BLAZERS 112, December 30, 1990
At Milwaukee (Game 31, 27-4)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
29-29	31-28	21-33	31-27	112-117	18,633

Hot shooting helped the Bucks earn the win, as they made 12-of-22 three-point shots and, at one point, 26 free throws in a row. . . Both teams combined to make 21 three-point field goals, a National Basketball Association record for one game, and they were a combined 21-for-37 (.568) from long range. . . The Bucks led 90-81 going into the fourth quarter and 95-83 with 10:43 left in the game when Cooper, Ainge and Bryant sparked a 12-0 run that pulled the Blazers even at 95 with seven minutes to play. . . With Milwaukee ahead 113-110 in the final 30 seconds of the game, Jay Humphries nailed a three-pointer to ice the win. . . The Blazers lost despite shooting .558 (43-77) from the field, .600 (9-15) from three-point land and .739 (17-23) from the line. . . The Bucks finished the game posting marks of .438 (39-89) from the field, .545 (12-22) from three-point territory and .931 (27-29) from the foul line. . . Clyde Drexler led the Blazers with 21 points while Terry Porter added 19 (6-8 FGs) and Danny Ainge scored 16 (6-9). . . Drexler, Porter and Ainge combined to shoot .643 (9-14) from three-point land.

BLAZERS 116, BUCKS 112, January 20, 1991
At Portland (Game 41, 34-7)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
36-18	16-28	25-41	39-25	116-112	12,884

The Blazers rallied from a 10-point fourth quarter deficit to earn the victory and finish the first half of the season with the best record in the NBA, 34-7. . . Danny Ainge sank a three-pointer to open the second quarter and give the Blazers a 39-18 lead. . . Milwaukee then staged a second quarter comeback and outscored Portland, 28-13, the rest of the period to trail 52-46 at the half. . . In the third quarter, the Bucks did not commit a turnover, outscored the Blazers, 41-25, while shooting .590 from the field and Milwaukee limited Portland to a .330 shooting percentage in the quarter. . . Trailing 98-89 with 7:35 to play in the game, the Blazers crept to within 100-94 when Cliff Robinson scored three straight baskets to pull Portland close, 102-100. . . Terry Porter, who made just 3-of-7 shots in the game, sank his lone three-pointer of the contest to push the Blazers on top with 3:13 remaining. . . Kevin Duckworth scored a team-high 21 points with 7 rebounds. . . Jay Humphries led all scorers with 27 points and Alvin Robertson tallied 20.

BLAZERS vs. MINNESOTA — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 107, TIMBERWOLVES 92, Nov. 29, 1990
At Portland (Game 2, 2-0)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
29-15	29-23	19-23	30-31	107-92	12,884

The Blazers finished November with a 12-1 record, the best in the NBA. . . Seven Blazers scored in double figures, led by Clyde Drexler (21 points) and Terry Porter (20 points). . . Portland shot .482 (41-85) from the field, held Minnesota to a .439 (36-82) mark and outrebounded the T'wolves, 45-28. . . The Blazers scored on six of their first seven possessions to jump in front, 12-3, and held a 29-15 edge after one quarter as the T'wolves made just 7-of-18 shots (.388) in the period. . . Portland led 66-40 early in the third quarter when Minnesota closed to within 88-76 with 6:00 to play.

BLAZERS 132. TIMBERWOLVES 117. January 15, 1991
At Minnesota (Game 39, 32-7)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
41-27	30-23	31-35	30-32	132-117	19,006

The Blazers earned their 32nd win of the year although Kevin Duckworth (flu) and Jerome Kersey (strained left calf muscle) were not on the floor when the game began. . . Just 2:31 into the game, Buck Williams suffered a pulled groin muscle and had to leave the game. . . Williams was replaced by Kersey, who had missed six games due to his injury. . . Portland led, 71-50, at halftime after a strong first half showing by Mark Bryant, Cliff Robinson and Alaa Abdelnaby, who combined to score 21 points. . . Trailing by 26 points in the third quarter, Minnesota cut the deficit to 102-85 at the end of the period and scored the first four points on the fourth quarter to pull within 13. . . Danny Ainge and Terry Porter responded with three-point field goals that put Portland in front for good, 117-101, with 6:30 left in the game. . . Clyde Drexler posted a triple double of 32 points, 11 assists and 10 rebounds and held the T'wolves top scorer, Tony Campbell, to five points on 1-of-13 shooting. . . Bryant added a career-high 20 points off the Blazer bench. . . Kersey, who had warmed up prior to the game but didn't expect to play, logged 22 points and 4 rebounds in 34 minutes. . . Sam Mitchell led Minnesota in scoring with 29 points (13-18 FGs).

BLAZERS 121, TIMBERWOLVES 91, March 30, 1991

Philadelphia scored seven of the final eight points in the first half to lead, 63-62, at halftime. . . The Sixers shot .605 (26-43) from the field in the first half while the Blazers posted a .556 (25-45) mark. . . The first half included a 19-minute delay because of a clock failure on the overhead scoreboard. . . After missing their first five shots of the second half, Portland trailed, 77-65, with 8:07 to go in the third quarter before rattling off a 15-0 run to finish the period with a 96-86 advantage. . . The Sixers made just three of their first 15 fourth quarter shots as they were outscored by the Blazers, 40-11, at one stretch during the second half. . . Terry Porter led the Blazers with 22 points and 12 assists. . . Clyde Drexler added 21 points and three blocked shots while Kevin Duckworth logged 20 points and 8 rebounds. . . Charles Barkley led all scorers with 27 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. . . Hersey Hawkins posted 24 points for the Sixers, but after making 8-of-10 first-half shots he was 0-for-3 in the second half. . . The Portland bench outscored the Philadelphia reserves, 37-22.

Portland suffered its fourth straight setback, the longest losing streak by the Blazers in two seasons. . . Despite the losing skein, the Blazers still boasted the best record in the NBA, 44-14. . . The Blazers made their first five shots to take a 10-2 lead two minutes into the contest and owned a 33-29 advantage after one quarter of play. . . The Sixers held the Blazers to just 18 second quarter points and grabbed a 58-51 halftime lead they would hold the rest of the way. . . Clyde Drexler led the Blazers in scoring with 23 points while grabbing 7 rebounds and dishing out 8 assists. . . Kevin Duckworth logged a double-double of 19 points and 15 rebounds. . . Charles Barkley led all scorers with 32 points (11-16 FGs). . . Portland shot .490 (50-102) and outrebounded the Sixers, 42-37, but — for the first time all season — did not make a field goal from beyond the three-point line (0-13 3FGs). . . The Blazers outscored the Sixers, 60-38, in the paint, yet made 11-of-17 (.647) foul shots while Philadelphia sank 38-of-40 (.950) free throw attempts. . . The Sixers scored their last 10 points on consecutive free throws during the final 1:37 of the game.

22-17	27-18	16-22	20-28	10-8	95-93	17,014

Portland, which shot .330 from the field, held the Kings to a .365 percentage and outrebounded Sacramento, 62-52. . . Leading 49-35 at halftime, Portland opened the second half by going 14 straight possessions without a field goal as the Kings moved within 56-51 with 4:27 left in the third. . . Sacramento gained the lead in the fourth quarter before Clyde Drexler's two free throws with 7.1 seconds left forced the extra period. . . Jerome Kersey clinched the win with a driving layup and a pair of free throws in the final 7.3 seconds of overtime. . . Terry Porter tallied a team-high 19 points and 8 assists. . . Wayman Tisdale led all scorers with 21 points, despite missing his first six shots of the game, and grabbed 15 boards.

KINGS 100, BLAZERS 88, December 13, 1990
At Sacramento (Game 21, 19-2)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
38-19	15-27	16-24	19-30	88-100	17,014

The Blazers opened the game by scoring the game's first 11 points and held the Kings to 9-for-25 (.360) shooting from the floor to build a 38-19 lead. . . The Blazers missed 13 of their first 15 shots to begin the second quarter as the Kings pulled within, 53-46 at halftime. . . Sacramento scored the first eight points of the third quarter and led 70-69 before extending the margin to 81-74 with seven minutes left in the game, a deficit the Blazers could not close. . . Portland shot .279 (19-68) from the field over the final three quarters of the contest and finished with a .356 (31-87) percentage. . . Antoine Carr came off the bench to lead the Kings with 20 points. . . The Sacramento reserves outscored the Blazer bench, 51-15.

BLAZERS vs. SAN ANTONIO — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 117, SPURS 103, November 25, 1990
At Portland (Game 11, 11-0)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
49-18	15-32	25-27	28-26	117-103	12,884

The Blazers used a 49-point first quarter en route to their then-club record 11th consecutive conquest. . . Portland made 22-of-25 shots from the field in the first quarter, the highest-scoring first quarter in club history, led by Clyde Drexler's 15 points. . . San Antonio responded with 13 straight second quarter points to cut a 58-29 deficit to 58-42 as the Blazers made only 6-of-25 second period shots. . . The Spurs trimmed the lead to 68-61 in the third period before Portland responded with an 18-4 burst to lead 103-81. . . All five Portland starters scored in double figures, led by Kevin Duckworth's 22 points. . . Portland shot .547 from the field, and held San Antonio to a .457 ledger. . . Cliff Robinson came off the Blazer bench to score 18 points in 21 minutes, 13 in the second half.

SPURS 95, BLAZERS 88, February 24, 1991
At Portland (Game 55, 44-11)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
20-26	22-20	17-18	29-31	88-95	12,884

The Blazers, leading the league in three-point field goal percentage (.399), made only 4-of-21 shots from that distance. . . The 42 first-half points represented the lowest offensive output of any first half this season for the Blazers as they made just 17-of-45 shots from the field (.378). . . Jake O'Donnell opened the fourth quarter by ejecting Jerome Kersey with two technical fouls. . . After Kevin Duckworth (team-high 18 points) fouled out with 2:46 to go in the game, the Blazers, trailing 82-78, turned the ball over twice and San Antonio had snapped a four-game losing streak overall and a 14-game skid in the Rose City.

SPURS 102, BLAZERS 101 (OT), February 26, 1991
At San Antonio (Game 56, 44-12)

1	2	3	4	OT	Final	Att.
15-19	12-25	34-25	30-22	10-11	101-102	15,908

The Blazers scored just 27 first-half points, including season-lows for points in the first (15) and second quarters (12). . . Portland owned a .279 (12-43) field goal percentage at the break. . . In the second half, Terry Porter scored 26 of his game-high 28 points on 9-of-11 shooting and Danny Ainge added 17 of his 19 points after intermission. . . Portland pulled within 79-71 at the end of three quarters after trailing by as many as 19 points in the period. . . With the Spurs ahead, 101-99 with 18.6 seconds left on the clock, Buck Williams rebounded an Ainge miss and scored at the horn and was fouled. . . Williams' foul shot bounced off the rim and the two teams went into overtime, where San Antonio's David Robinson sank a foul shot with 1.9 seconds on the clock to gain the win. . . Cliff Robinson finished the game with 13 points and a career-high 21 rebounds, while Clyde Drexler charted a triple-double of 11 points, 14 rebounds and 11 assists.

BLAZERS 105, SPURS 100, April 10, 1991
At San Antonio (Game 77, 59-18)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
26-24	27-24	26-25	26-27	105-100	15,908

Portland became the first club to sweep the three Texas teams on one trip since 1987. . . The triumph lifted Portland to a club-record ninth straight road win that also tied the team standard for victories in one season set the previous year, (59). . . The Spurs scored on their first six possessions of the second half to go in front, 61-57. . . San Antonio pulled to within two points with two minutes left in the game when Jerome Kersey, who had scored two points on 1-of-7 shooting, swished a corner shot to put the Blazers ahead, 97-93 with 1:22 to play. . . Kersey then made two foul shots and Terry Porter converted four consecutive free throws in the final 38 seconds to ice the win. . . Portland forced 20 San Antonio turnovers. . . Clyde Drexler led Portland in scoring with 22 points.

BLAZERS vs. SEATTLE — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 130, SONICS 124 (3OT), Dec. 1, 1990
At Seattle (Game 14, 13-1)

1	2	3	4	OT	OT	OT	Final	Att.
20-25	19-28	24-24	32-18	11-11	12-12	12-6	130-124	14,674

With Portland ahead, 94-91, with 41 seconds remaining in regulation, the Sonics took a one-point lead on successive scores by Sedale Threatt and Xavier McDaniel. . . Jerome Kersey, fouled as time ran out, made one of two foul shots to force the first overtime. . . At the end of the first extra period, Seattle led 106-103 with 2.0 seconds on the clock. Portland inbounded to Terry Porter (team-high 38 points), whose desperation 3-pointer at the buzzer went in to force another overtime. . . The Blazers trailed 118-114 with 8.3 seconds left in the second extra stanza when Gary Payton fouled Danny Ainge, who made both free throws and tipped away an errant inbound pass to Porter for a layup that tied the game again. . . In the third overtime, Portland trailed 122-118 before a 10-2 run gave them a 128-124 lead with 21.3 seconds to go and secured the victory. . . Xavier McDaniel finished with 41 points in 52 minutes. . . Jerome Kersey had 24 points and 10 rebounds in 52 minutes of action.

BLAZERS 114, SONICS 111, January 6, 1991
At Seattle (Game 34, 29-5)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.

All five Blazer starters reached double-digits in scoring, and Danny Ainge added 20 points as the first reserve off the bench. . . The Blazers led 54-30 midway through the second quarter before the Sonics responded with a 17-4 run, making 8-of-9 shots from the floor and scoring on eight straight possessions. . . The Blazers led, 87-80, after three quarters, only to have the Sonics go on a 14-4 spurt to mount a 94-91 advantage. . . Ainge, who made 4-of-7 three-point attempts, sank back-to-back three-pointers to key a run that gave the Blazers a 111-107 lead with 1:46 to go. . . After the Sonics pulled even at 111, Clyde Drexler (20 points) found Terry Porter (14) for a layup to push Portland ahead with 18.1 seconds on the clock. . . Gary Payton missed a 20-foot jumper and Cliff Robinson knocked down a foul shot to secure the victory.

BLAZERS 126, SONICS 113, March 26, 1991

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
28-21	36-26	35-33	27-33	126-113	12,884

Portland's starting guards outscored their Seattle counterparts, 52-8 and topped them 16-6 in the assist department. . . The Blazers led by as many as 27 points in the third quarter and 19 in the fourth, only to have Seattle crawl within 114-111 with two minutes to go in the game. . . Terry Porter knocked down a 10-foot jump shot and Clyde Drexler converted a three-point play off a fastbreak to hike the lead to 119-111. . . Drexler led all scorers with 30 points, while Porter tallied 22 points and 10 assists. . . Portland outscored Seattle, 31-10 in fastbreak points.

BLAZERS 112, SONICS 107, March 27, 1991
At Seattle (Tacoma) (Game 69, 51-18)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
25-27	17-34	34-23	36-23	112-107	18,176

Portland overcame a 24-point third-quarter deficit, the second largest comeback in franchise history. . . Trailing 27-25 after one quarter, the Blazers made just two of their first 19 second quarter shots, missing 13 in-a-row and going eight minutes without scoring a field goal as Seattle parlayed a 24-6 run into a 53-36 advantage. . . Portland finished the second quarter making just 5-of-24 shots in the period (.208) and 15-of-48 in the first half (.313). . . The Sonics led, 68-44, early in the third quarter and enjoyed a 78-61 advantage when the Blazers rattled off a 14-0 spurt to climb within 78-65. . . Clyde Drexler, who scored 18 of his game-high 26 points in the second half, had 10 points in a three-minute span that drew the Blazers to within 103-101. . . Kevin Duckworth (18 points) tied the game at 105 with a 15-foot jump before Terry Porter converted a three-point play to give the Blazers a 108-105 lead they would never give up.

BLAZERS vs. WASHINGTON — Game-by-Game 1990-91

BLAZERS 123, BULLETS 99, January 18, 1991
At Portland (Game 40, 33-7)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
32-25	29-19	26-25	36-30	123-99	12,884

The Blazers earned the win despite shooting only .444 (48-108) from the field and .636 (15-21) from the line. . . Portland held Washington to a .418 (38-91) field goal percentage and outrebounded the Bullets, 54-52. . . Cliff Robinson earned the first starting assignment of his career at power forward, in place of the injured Buck Williams (strained groin muscle). . . Robinson tied his career-high in scoring with a game-high 22 points and grabbed seven rebounds and four steals. . . Robinson combined with Jerome Kersey to limit Bernard King to just 15 points, nine of which came in the first 8:30 of the game. . . King entered the contest as the NBA's top scorer, averaging 31.3 points per game. . . Portland had eight steals and forced 14 Washington turnovers in the first half, but needed a 7-0 spurt in the closing 45 seconds to enter halftime with a 61-44 advantage. . . The Blazers opened the third quarter with only one field goal in the first five minutes as the Bullets drew to within 63-54. . . Portland responded with an 11-0 run that iced the win. . . Kersey finished with 16 points and 8 rebounds. . . Danny Young came off the Blazer bench to contribute 16 points in 19 minutes of action. . . Washington reserve Pervis Ellison led the Bullets with 17 points.

BLAZERS 105, BULLETS 96, April 4, 1991
At Washington (Game 73, 55-18)

1	2	3	4	Final	Att.
27-25	23-23	30-29	25-19	105-96	12,289

Portland defeated Washington for the sixth time in their last eight meetings and extended their winning streak to eight games with the victory. . . The game was marred by the fourth-quarter ejection of Washington's Wes Unseld, Darrell Walker and Pervis Ellison. . . Portland shot .500 (37-74) from the floor and was outrebounded, 42-32, by the Bullets. . . The Bullets collected 23 second-chance points off 14 offensive rebounds in the game. . . The Blazers led 88-83 with 6:51 remaining in the game when Walker complained to Steve Javie and received a technical foul and ejection. . . Less than a minute later, Kevin Duckworth was fouled by Pervis Ellison, who threw the ball to Bill Spooner and received a technical and early shower. . . Wes Unseld then came onto the court and received two technical fouls and an ejection. . . Clyde Drexler led the Blazers with 23 points and 8 assists. . . Terry Porter tallied 19 points, 15 of which were scored in the second half. . . John Williams led all scorers with 24 points.

A GUIDE TO PERSONNEL PROCEDURES

ACTIVE LIST: A team must carry a minimum of 11, and no more than 12, players on its active roster. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the offseason and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST: Any player placed on the injured list due to injury or illness, must sit out at least five of his team's regular-season games before he may be restored to the active list. For players injured near the end of the season, the rule is to mean the players must sit out five games or as many games as remain in the regular season.

TRADING DEADLINE: No trades or sales among teams are permitted after 9:00 P.M. eastern time, February 20. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions can be made through the waiver procedure or by acquiring free agents.

WAIVERS: From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no teams claim the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player. The waiver price shall be $1,000 per player payable to the League Office.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT: On or after the 55th day following the season's first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract solely for the purpose of replacing an injured player. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements by a single team in the same season.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE: On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY RENUNCIATION: A player whose high school class has graduated shall become eligible for the college draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

TRADING OF FIRST DRAFT CHOICES: No team may sell or trade its right to select a player in the first round of the college draft if the result of such an exchange would be to leave the club without first-round picks in any two consecutive college drafts.

PRE-DRAFT CAMPS: Prior to the college draft, teams are prohibited from conducting so-called "mini-camps" for prospective players eligible for the draft.

EXPANSION EXPLAINED

To accommodate expansion, the NBA has been utilizing a rotating divisional alignment system that will be in effect through this season.

"This rotating system gives fans in these new franchise cities a chance to see all the stars of the NBA several times in the first three years," said NBA Commissioner David Stern. "Then, in 1991, the teams will settle into their most logical geographical divisions, which we hope will enable them to build rivalries with existing teams in the same area."

Following are the divisional affiliations for the NBA's four newest members.

	East Atlantic	East Central	West Midwest
1988-89	Charlotte		Miami
1989-90	Miami	Orlando	Charlotte Minnesota
1990-91	Miami	Charlotte	Minnesota Orlando
1991-92	Miami Orlando	Charlotte	Minnesota

BILL SCHONELY

"Good evening basketball fans, wherever you may be. . ." With that statement Bill Schonely is doing what he does best, and what few others do nearly as well. For 21 years and nearly 2,000 games, he's been bringing Trail Blazer basketball to radio listeners from California north to Alaska. Only the Lakers' Chick Hearn (30 years) has been with his team longer than Schonely. He should call his 2,000th Blazer game in the January 24, 1992 contest with Atlanta. With that experience has come a reputation as one of the best play-by-play men in the business.

Schonely's voice is perhaps the most recognizable in Oregon, as the Blazer radio network is one of the largest in the NBA with coverage in some 30 Northwest markets. He's also become a national commodity as narrator of the NBA promotional spots that cover the country's television markets.

A native of Norristown, Penn., Schonz, as he's known to many, served in the U.S. Marine Corps before settling in Seattle where he worked as sports director of KVI radio for seven years. He served as the voice of the Seattle Totems of the Western Hockey League (and would later work for the NHL's Oakland Seals), University of Washington football, and Seattle Angels and Seattle Pilots baseball teams. The Pilots departed after just one season and the newly-created Portland Trail Blazers of the NBA came calling in search of their first announcer.

Schonely is very visible in the Portland community regularly lending his support to charitable causes, such as those sponsored by The American Heart Association, Doernbecher and the Kidney Association of Oregon.

MIKE RICE

Veteran head basketball coach and basketball commentator Mike Rice begins his second year as analyst on the team's radio broadcasts.

Rice was an honorable mention All-America selection at Duquesne as a senior, when he led the Dukes to a third-place national ranking and an NIT invitation. Selected in the eighth round of the 1962 NBA Draft by the Detroit Pistons, Rice opted instead to pursue a career in coaching. After recording a 245-71 (.773) ledger in 13 years at the high school level, Rice entered the college ranks in 1977 as an assistant coach at his college alma mater.

After being named head coach of the Dukes the next year, he guided them to a 62-49 (.559) record from 1978-1982. After leading Duquesne to two NIT appearances and twice-earning Eastern Eight "Coach of the Year" honors, Rice went on to Youngstown State in 1982. During his five-year tenure, the Penguins earned a 20-win season and two second-place finishes in the Ohio Valley Conference. Twice he coached squads to the title game in the OVC tournament.

Rice moved to the broadcast booth in 1987 as a college basketball analyst for ESPN. A regular on ESPN's "Big Monday" lineup, he provided commentary for the games in the Big West as the primary analyst for the Western Athletic Conference. In addition to numerous regular season contests, Rice has also worked women's NCAA regional championship games, the Division II national championship game and high school all-star games. In 1989, he added additional broadcast duties with SportsChannel America as the primary analyst on their World Basketball League broadcasts. The WBL was familiar territory to Rice, who joined the Youngstown Pride in 1987 first as head coach, and later as director of basketball operations.

His wife Kathy is a former Duquesne Duchess basketball player. The couple has two daughters, Susan and Stephanie, both graduates of Syracuse University where they played tennis and one son, Mike, who has played basketball at Fordham University.

SUBWAY

BLAZER TELEVISION NETWORK

Blazer fans in Oregon and southwest Washington will be able to view 46 games telecast during the 1991-92 season through the combined efforts of Blazer Cable, KOIN Channel 6, NBC and TNT. That includes 20 games on Blazer Cable, 20 on flagship station KOIN, five on NBC and one on TNT.

PAT LAFFERTY

Pat Lafferty returns for his sixth season as play-by-play announcer for all 40 Trail Blazer produced telecasts. His style and insight into the game, particularly through statistical analysis, provide viewers with a unique, detailed look inside NBA basketball.

A veteran of 21 years behind the microphone, Lafferty has never missed a broadcast. That dedication carries over to other aspects of his duties with the Blazer organization as well. He co-hosts the popular radio talkshow "Courtside: Monday Night" and is a regular part of other Blazer Broadcasting productions. In addition, Lafferty is the senior account executive in the Sponsor Services department of the club's front office.

A Portland native and 1967 graduate of the University of Oregon, Lafferty began his broadcast career at KLOO Radio in Corvallis where he was Sports Director for 15 years. He also served as assistant station manager, morning air personality and was the station's top advertising account executive. He was the voice of Corvallis High School football and basketball and Oregon State baseball for 15 years, worked as an analyst on OSU basketball telecasts for four seasons and hosted Beaver Coach Ralph Miller's weekly television program for six years. He also has the distinction of once broadcasting a Pac-10 track meet, 15 innings of baseball and a football game on the same day!

A sports historian, Lafferty is a member of the Society of American Baseball research and has done pioneering work in the area of basketball team performance.

Prior to entering the broadcast field, the 46-year-old Lafferty spent three years in the Army, serving in Vietnam in 1970. He and his wife, Isae, are the parents of 17-year-old twin sons, Dan and Sean.

STEVE JONES

One of the up-and-coming talents in the new era of the NBA on NBC, Steve Jones is certainly no stranger to Trail Blazer fans, or, for that matter, to NBA fans across the country. Jones is in his ninth year sitting courtside as analyst for the 40 Blazer games broadcast by Blazer Cable and KOIN Channel 6.

While honing his talents with Blazer Broadcasting since the 1976-77 season, Jones has become very visible on the national scene the last four years. He served three years with TNT and TBS before joining the NBC team when the network obtained the NBA's television rights prior to the 1990-91 season.

Jones' broadcasting career begin in 1976 (the season after he retired), when he became a color commentator for CBS. He was part of the network's announcing crew that handled the Trail Blazers famed Championship game. Also that year, he served as color analyst for the Blazers. Jones continued for three seasons with CBS, also working with the Denver Nuggets during that time. He served a stint with the USA Cable Network as a commentator for NBA contests.

In 1979, Jones was united with Bill Schonely behind the Blazer radio microphone. The two worked together until 1981 when Jones stepped aside to devote a full-time effort to the club's talk show, now known as "Courtside. . . with Steve Jones," aired 90 minutes prior to every game. He co-hosts the weekly program "Courtside: Monday Night" throughout the year.

Jones is a native of Portland who led Franklin High School to the state basketball championship in 1959 before going on to a standout career at the University of Oregon. He paced the Ducks in scoring during the 1963-64 season. Jones earned all-star honors during eight seasons in the now-defunct ABA, then played the 1975-76 season with the Trail Blazers before retiring.

When not behind a microphone or on an airplane, Jones can often be found working on his renowned tennis game.

BLAZER COURTSIDE

"Courtside. . . with Steve Jones" airs for one hour on KEX (AM 1190) 90 minutes prior to every Blazer game. "Courtside: Monday Night" airs on KEX from 6:05-8:00 p.m. on Monday nights for 48 weeks a year and is hosted by Steve Jones and Pat Lafferty. Fans can participate in both shows by calling 225-1190 from Portland, 585-1190 from Salem, 256-1190 from Vancouver, and 1-800-432-DUNK toll free from other areas.

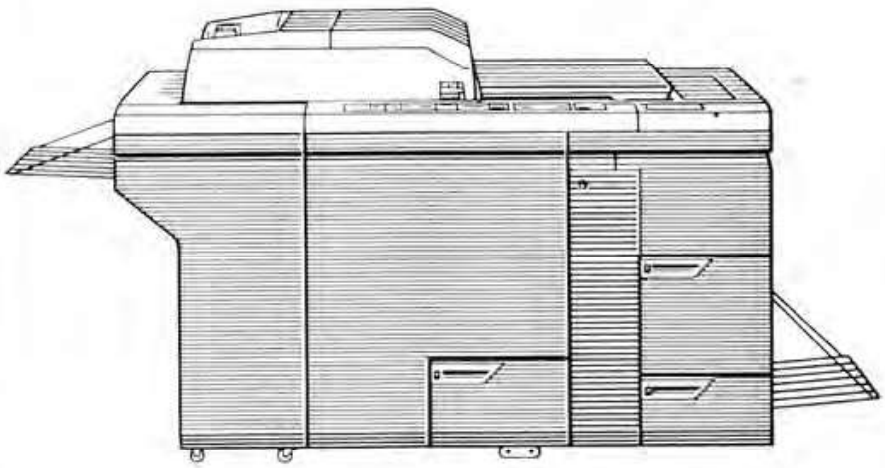
ALL TIMES ARE PORTLAND TIMES

Put a masterpiece of productivity to work for you.



The Sharp SD-2075
MASTER SERIES
High Performance Duplicator.

The SD-2075 produces 75 copies per minute — the fastest output of any Sharp copier.

It duplicates everything from single copies — to computer printouts — to professional reports with covers and inserts — collated, stapled and ready to distribute.

A master of simplicity, the control panel is clearly marked and all functions are push-button simple. You'll never waste time programming a complex copying job. So for less time at the copier and more time to get other work done, count on the masterpiece of productivity, efficiency and reliability — the Sharp Master Series SD-2075 duplicator.
